KEY TO CIRCULATION RATINGS

Where a rating is given in black face figures the publisher has furnished an affidavit of the average circulation during a term of one year.

Where a rating is given in black face figures with a star [★] the publisher has furnished a detailed statement showing the actual issue for each date during a term of one year, supported by an affidavit.

Where an affidavit of circulation has not been furnished, the rating is given as accurately as possible in thousands and fractions of thousands. Thus:

$\frac{1}{4}$	means "exceeding	. . .	250 "
$\frac{1}{2}$	" "	. . .	500 "
$\frac{3}{4}$	" "	. . .	750 "
1	" "	. . .	1,000 "
$1\frac{1}{4}$	" "	. . .	1,250 "
$1\frac{1}{2}$	" "	. . .	1,500 "
$1\frac{3}{4}$	" "	. . .	1,750 "
2	" "	. . .	2,000 "

and so on, each whole number and fraction signifying so many thousands and parts of a thousand.

PREFACE

The sixth edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory may fairly claim to be a thoroughly complete and up to date hand-book of Canadian Journalism. The newspaper lists have been corrected with the utmost care, accuracy in circulation ratings achieved as nearly as possible, and the details concerning each paper carefully revised. Apart from its avowed purpose, the book will be found a valuable gazetteer of every city, town and village that can boast of a local paper. This gazetteer is compiled to show the business possibilities of each particular section of the country, and within its scope will be found very complete. It gives the population of each town, indicates county seats in the eastern provinces, gives the railroads and waterways serving each place, names the villages surrounding each newspaper town, shows the telephone, telegraph, express and banking facilities, and mentions the principal industries. Its usefulness to advertisers and others who have dealings with newspapers is obvious. From no other source can they obtain the data given in this volume, which is the condensed result of many years' study and experience in the newspaper field.

The Canadian Newspaper Directory is useful in a sphere wider than the local advertising field. It is an advertisement in foreign countries for the Dominion of Canada. Copies of this edition will find their way into the hands of hundreds of prominent manufacturers in Great Britain and the United States, giving them a better idea of the progress and importance of Canada than they would otherwise have. Advertisers and advertising agencies in both these countries rely on the Canadian Newspaper Directory for full and accurate information about Canadian papers.

The condition and influence of a press of a country is an accurate indication of its advancement, and the fact that Canada possesses so many excellent papers, circulating so widely and extending over so great an area, will show outsiders how extensive is the field here and how great its possibilities.

A special feature of the Directory is a set of five newspaper maps, covering the whole Dominion. These maps have been corrected up to date, but instead of being bound in the book where they are easily torn, they are issued as a supplement and enclosed in a special envelope. They give in a very prominent way the names and correct location of every city, town and village in which one or more newspapers are published. This is a manifest advantage, as it enables the reader to pick out the principal town in any section of the country at a glance.

The publishers of the Directory gratefully acknowledge the generous support given by the most prominent dailies, weeklies and monthlies throughout the country to this and former editions of the Directory, and thank them for the promptness with which all the information asked for has been supplied. It is gratifying to note the increasing number of publishers who keep careful records of their circulation and furnish detailed and sworn statements whenever required, as evinced by the black face and starred ratings in this edition. There is still, however, a very large number who neglect to keep records in their own offices and decline to give any information whatever, which, of course, renders it absolutely impossible for any directory to give correct figures regarding their circulations. In such cases the ratings are of necessity only approximate, as they are based upon information gleaned from other sources.

Every care has been taken to avoid doing any publisher an injustice, and no pains will be spared to rectify as far as possible any error that may have occurred.

CANADA

As an Advertising Field

Canada is a big advertising field, and a good one. Moreover, it is getting better every day.

Within an area of nearly four million square miles, a trifle less than the whole of Europe, Canada has a wealth of natural resources, not yet fully explored, but already recognized as probably unequalled in the world. These natural resources are the foundation of a solid and rapidly growing prosperity, that extends from those who in some way get their livelihood from the land itself, through the industrial, professional and business classes, to the advertiser. The farmer, the miner, the lumberman, the fisherman—all are prospering to-day because of the richness of Canada's soil, mines, forests and waters. As a direct consequence, town and city folks are doing well, too, and throughout the Dominion people have the money and the inclination to buy really good advertised products.

As the last two years have shown, no mere financial panic can long interrupt this prosperity or this steady demand, because it is based on the permanent richness of the land itself. The advertiser who builds a business in Canada builds on a sure foundation.

Canada's population, and to even a greater extent her production and trade, are growing at a rate that few realize. Since the last general census, in 1901, the population has grown over a million and a quarter, or fully 25%.

In the same period our exports of agricultural products have increased 166%. The 1908 grain crop of the West alone was worth well over one hundred million dollars.

The products of the mines since 1901 show an increase of over 40%, and geologists say that not half the mineral wealth of the country has yet been uncovered. Exports of forest produce have grown over 45% in the same time, and those of fish over 29%.

Finally, the total export and import trade of Canada in the last seven years has increased 69%.

In a comparatively new country, growing at such a rate in income as well as in population, the demand for advertised goods of all kinds is bound to be heavy, and the returns to the advertiser most satisfactory.

Taking a closer view of the field, we find in Ontario an old, well-settled district in the south devoted to mixed farming, dairying and manufacturing, with many thriving industrial centres. It is probably the richest section of the Dominion. The northern part, New Ontario, just being opened up, shows wonderful mineral wealth as well as large timber areas and some good farming land. Though sparsely populated as yet, it is rapidly developing into a good market. The whole province has about one-third of the country's population.

Quebec contains some sections that are among the oldest settled in Canada, and at the same time a vast stretch well north of the St. Lawrence river, that is as yet practically unknown. Indications are that this territory is rich in mineral deposits and pulp wood, and that some day it will contribute largely to the wealth of the province. On both sides of the St. Lawrence the country is well settled, the "Eastern Townships," between the St. Lawrence and the United States border, being most prosperous. Mixed farming and dairying, and the richest asbestos mines in the world, are the main sources of revenue.

The Maritime Provinces are the most thoroughly developed portions of the Dominion, the population of Prince Edward Island, per square mile, being greater than that of any other province. Agriculture, lumbering, fishing, coal and iron mining and shipping yield good, if not phenomenal returns, and manufacturers find there a steady market.

All eyes during the past few years have been turned to the West where in the Prairie Provinces Canada boasts the greatest Hard Wheat fields known, totalling over 170 million acres. Wheat is the mainstay, the annual crop having passed the hundred million bushel mark, but the growing of coarse grains, live stock raising, dairying, and in some sections coal mining are increasing in importance and value. Settlers are pouring in, everything must be bought new, money is plentiful, and consequently there is in the West a stronger demand for all kinds of manufactured goods than exists in older communities.

British Columbia, too, is going ahead rapidly in the development of its remarkable natural wealth in timber, minerals, fish and fruit. A large and profitable trade with the Orient is becoming an important factor in the prosperity of the province.

Growing, prosperous, with nature's lavish wealth as security for the future, Canada is indeed a promising field for the advertiser.

THE ADVERTISING AGENCY MAKES ADVERTISING PAY

There can be no doubt that in Canada, as well as in the Motherland and the neighboring Republic, Advertising Agencies have played a very important part in developing advertising and making it profitable, both to advertisers and publishers. Many firms would never have advertised at all were it not for some Advertising Agency; many others, without the trained service of the Agency, would not have found newspaper publicity profitable, and so would have dropped out.

The good Advertising Agency is valuable to the publisher because it creates new business, and by making old business more profitable to the advertiser insures its continuance.

To the advertiser the good Agency is as valuable as an architect to the man who wants to build a skyscraper, or a guide to the hunter.

The advertiser knows his product and knows how to maintain its superiority. The Advertising Agency knows how to convince the greatest number of purchasers of this superiority, and to get their business—and to get it economically, too.

The problems that confront the advertiser at the outset—size of space—copy—illustrations—papers—rates—these are all readily solved by the capable Agency, whose staff has had years of experience in working out just such problems for scores of other advertisers. Instead of being compelled to experiment for himself, and find out, by perhaps costly experience, the best methods and mediums, the advertiser gets from the Agency the benefit of the crystallized experience of hundreds who have made good before.

The staff of a really capable Canadian Advertising Agency know Canada thoroughly, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. They know the class of people living in each city, town and district—their occupation—their needs—their purchasing power. This knowledge is invaluable to the advertiser who takes advantage of it.

To illustrate. The Maritime Provinces grow very little wheat, have few local flour mills, and offer a splendid market for Ontario and Manitoba flour.—The city of St. Thomas, with a population of 14,000, buys twice as much advertised goods as many cities twice its size, because its people are mostly railway employees, making exceptionally high average wages.—There are certain sections of Canada where there is a heavy demand for cream separators—for workmen's ready-made clothing—for special kinds of agricultural implements.

Local conditions like these should all be considered in planning an advertising campaign, and the Advertising Agency is generally more familiar with them than is the manufacturer himself.

The capable Agency knows newspapers. Not merely their rates and their circulations, but the class of people they reach, the distribution of their circulation, their typographical facilities, and their pulling power for any particular line of business. As this special knowledge can only be gained by long and varied experience, the old-established Advertising Agency, handling hundreds of accounts, has funds of information which even the largest single advertiser cannot obtain.

The services of the Agency are especially valuable to the advertiser in the preparation of copy. No campaign can be effective without strong, attractive advertisements, no matter how good the plan or how well selected the papers. The Agency has its trained copy writers and artists—men who to natural ability have added years of training and experience—men who can see the strong points in an advertiser's case—and make others see and act on them.

Then, in handling the thousand and one details in every campaign—making contracts—sending out instructions—checking advertisements—the Agency, with its trained staff, relieves the advertiser of a great deal of work, which it does probably better than he could.

Though the service of the capable Advertising Agency saves the advertiser from wasting money on worthless or unsuitable papers—though it makes his advertising more effective, and consequently more profitable—though it saves him most of the work of handling the campaign—it adds nothing to the cost. The Agency's remuneration comes from the publishers as commissions on business sent them, and as the Agency creates and develops so much advertising, the publishers find it profitable to pay this commission.

A SECTION OF THE GENERAL OFFICE OF A. MCKIM, LIMITED, MONTREAL

A WORD ABOUT OURSELVES

We have been just twenty years in the Agency business.

This Advertising Agency was established here in Montreal, in January, 1889, by Mr. Anson McKim, the pioneer in the Advertising Agency business in Canada, who is still at the head of this business. The McKim Agency is not only the oldest in Canada, but is also by far the largest.

During the last eighteen years this Agency has always placed more business with Canadian papers than any other Advertising Agency, and right now is handling probably quite as much Canadian business as all the other Agencies combined. Fifty-five people are now employed in the head office in Montreal, while a staff of ten people is required to look after the large business emanating from the Toronto office.

The foundation of this success has been good honest service to every advertiser large or small.

Publishers, being human, appreciate above almost everything else prompt and full payment for the service given. This every publisher has always had from this Agency for twenty years. Advertisers may defer payment to us, or even evade it entirely, yet each month or quarter, as arranged, every publisher who has run advertisements according to the familiar pink instruction orders from A. McKim, Limited, gets his cheque promptly and in full, whether he has billed for the space or not. Consequently we enjoy a reputation for "good pay" almost unique in advertising circles, and naturally we are able to purchase space for our clients on the most favorable terms.

In our dealings with advertisers the same principles of open, fair dealing apply. Our monthly statements give full details of the service for the month, and our books and records are always open to any client who may wish to verify our charges.

We have always tried to deserve, and we believe we have, the full confidence of every advertiser and every publisher with whom we do business.

But no reputation for fair dealing could have brought us a tithe of our success, were we not able to give advertisers an all-round service which they cannot get elsewhere.

One of the most valuable parts of our service is the full and accurate information which we can give an advertiser about Canada as a market for his particular line of goods, and Canadian papers as salesmen. There is scarcely an inhabited section of Canada where advertisements, written and placed by us, have not sold goods for many of our clients. There is not a newspaper or periodical of any importance at all which we have not used and tested.

For seventeen years we have been publishing this Canadian Newspaper Directory, which is recognized, in its descriptions and circulation ratings of Canadian papers, as the most complete and accurate published in this country; in fact we may say it has no competitor. We know with the greatest possible accuracy, not only the total circulation of the different papers, but where that circulation goes, and can show an advertiser, in plain figures, just what circulation a campaign which we outline will give him in every section of the country.

Planning an advertising campaign is with us, therefore, not semi-guess work, or hopeful experimenting—it is the logical working out of a problem, with full data at hand. What this has saved our clients in “trying-out” poor or unsuitable mediums, and what it has brought them, in increased returns from their advertising appropriations, it would be hard to estimate.

But the best planned advertising campaign will fail unless the copy is equally well planned and written. Realizing this, we specialize on copy, employing the best writers and artists available, the proofs of whose skill are the advertisements we are running in Canadian papers to-day.

Studying closely, from the consumer's point of view, the article to be advertised—supplementing this with the information the advertiser alone can supply—writing it up—boiling it down—illustrating it, when that will add to its effectiveness, we prepare advertising that is attractive, strong, convincing—advertising that sells goods.

We usually have advertisements set up by a skilled job printer, so as to get the best possible effect, and have an electro made of each. From these electros we make stereo plates—exact reproductions of the original type and illustrations—and send them to each paper. In this way the appearance of the advertisements is more uniform, and far more attractive than it would be if each paper set up the matter. The additional expense is small, and is more than balanced by the far greater effectiveness.

Copy, illustrations and cuts are prepared under the personal supervision of the head of the firm, who for over twenty years has been closely associated with the best advertising done in Canada.

We have built up the largest Advertising Agency business in the country (see partial list of our accounts on pages xxiv, xxv and xxvi) by helping our clients build up their business, and from every campaign we handle we learn something that enables us to still further improve our service. We were never so strong in every department as we are to-day.

CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS

AND NEWSPAPER TOWNS

ALPHABETICALLY ARRANGED FOR READY-REFERENCE

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO.

Ontario, formerly known as Upper Canada, was one of the four provinces confederated July 1st, 1867, into the Dominion of Canada. In population and wealth is the foremost province in the now greatly extended Dominion. It has a land area of 220,508 square miles and a water area of 40,354 square miles, with a population at the census of 1901 of 2,182,947. It has 47 counties, besides five districts as large as some European states, out of which future counties will be formed. The province has 19 incorporated cities, 123 incorporated towns and 136 (organized) villages. Its facilities for railway and water communication combined are not surpassed by those of any division of the American continent. The River St. Lawrence and the great lakes, Ontario, Erie, Huron and Superior, touch it on its entire southern and western boundaries, while from the "Height of land," which forms the back bone of the province, many fine rivers flow down to those lakes on the south, or to James Bay or Hudsons Bay on the north. Every county in the province has a railway running through it, and the total mileage in 1907 amounted to 7,637, or more than one-third of the mileage in Canada. In the extent and variety of its agricultural, dairy and fruit products, Ontario leads the Dominion, while its wealth of gold, nickel, silver, iron, cobalt and other valuable minerals is proving to be greater than was ever anticipated by geologists. The nickel mines of Sudbury are the heaviest producers in the world, while the silver deposits of Cobalt and surrounding district seem almost unlimited. Gold has been found in paying quantities in several sections of the province, particularly in "New Ontario." The fisheries of the province in 1906 amounted in value to $1,734,856. Less than 8% of the land area of the province was under crop in 1907, yet it produced 18,019,142 bushels of wheat, 83,524,301 bushels of oats, 21,718,332 bushels of barley, 1,081,706 bushels of rye, 2,546,468 bushels of buckwheat, 22,247,931 bushels of corn in ear, 7,365,036 bushels of peas, 790,269 bushels of beans, 20,907,893 bushels of potatoes, 48,205,605 bushels of roots, 3,891,863 tons of hay and 2,029,547 tons of fodder corn. The total crop for 1908 was 188,060,979 bushels, besides hay, fodder corn, etc., valued at $185,308,000. In the same year the province had 725,666 horses, 1,152,071 milch cows, 1,774,165 other cattle, 1,106,183 sheep, 2,049,666 swine and 13,428,076 poultry. The average yield per acre of crops in Ontario, though not so large as in the Northwest Provinces and Territories, is greater than in any state in the American Union, the comparison holding good in all kinds of grain in all states, except one kind of grain in one state—oats in Kansas. In 1907 Ontario had 5,819 public schools, besides 449 separate schools, 145 kindergartens, 20 night schools and 143 secondary schools. The total number of schools was 6,556, the total enrollment of pupils 495,343, and the number of teachers 10,950. The average expenditure per pupil in all the schools was $30.14. In higher education, besides several universities and colleges, Ontario has a normal college and six normal schools for the training of teachers, 54 model schools, an art and industrial school, two technical schools, 144 high schools and collegiate institutes, with 27,709 pupils and 661 teachers. It has also a training institute, at Guelph, for teachers and others in manual training and domestic science and art. In 1902 the province had 3,321 post offices, through which passed 105,600,000 letters, and 17,180,000 post cards, 2,332,000 registered letters, 5,172,000 free letters and $10,565,274 in money orders. Ontario is represented in the Dominion parliament by 24 senators and 85 members of the House of Commons. Its local government is carried on by a single chamber having 106 members. Capital, Toronto.

TORONTO, pop. 338,814, Co. York, the capital of Ontario, on Lake Ontario and Toronto Bay, 333 miles from Montreal, 169 miles from Sarnia, 229 miles from Detroit, 514 miles from Chicago, 118 miles from Buffalo, 565 miles from New York, 227 miles from North Bay, 1236 miles from Winnipeg: Tel., T., Ex., Banks. The Bay, sheltered by Toronto Island, affords an excellent harbor, from which passenger and freight boats run throughout the season of navigation to all lake and St. Lawrence River ports, Canadian and American. It is a great railroad centre, with connections by C. P. R., G. T. R., C. N. R., T. & N. O. R., T. H. & B. Ry. and their various branches and connections with all the important centres on the continent. Its manufactures embrace nearly everything required by the public, a few of the more important being organs, pianos, boilers, building materials, agricultural implements, cast iron work of every description, furniture, machinery, bridge works, ships, steel and cast iron piping, alcoholic liquors, paints, oils and varnishes, hardware and dry goods. It is estimated that Toronto factories employ over 65,000 hands.

The area within the city limits, as given in the City Engineer's report for 1908, is 18.24 square miles, not including the portion of the city land covered by water. There are 279 miles of streets and 85 miles of lanes, and over 205 miles of the streets are paved. The electric street car lines comprise over 107 miles of tracks, and over 500 cars are in daily use. They carried 88,353,846 passengers in 1908. The Toronto Suburban Railway runs now to Port Credit, and will shortly be extended to connect with the Hamilton Electric Railway. Toronto & York Radial Railway runs from North Toronto to Lake Simcoe. There are 265 miles of sewers and 305 miles of water mains with 3,544 hydrants. The average amount of water used daily is about 30,000,000 gallons, drawn from Lake Ontario, beyond the Island. Toronto is the educational centre of the Province and contains 179 educational institutions, including the University of Toronto with its several federated or affiliated universities and colleges of different denominations. The following are some of the most important: Toronto and McMaster Universities; Victoria, Knox, Wycliffe, St. Andrews, St. Michaels and Upper Canada Colleges; Royal College of Dental Surgeons, College of Pharmacy, Havergal, Moulton and St. Margaret's Ladies Colleges, Conservatory of Music and College of Music, Margaret Eaton School of Expression, Technical High School, sixty-six public schools and seven high schools. There are six public libraries in the city, containing 150,000 volumes. One of the library buildings just completed cost over $300,000. The libraries of the Department of Education and the Law Society of Ontario are here, as well as the Ontario Government library, containing 75,000 volumes. Toronto has many massive and handsome buildings, including the Parliament Buildings, Government House, City Hall, University of Toronto, Post Office, Customs House, Asylum for the Insane, Central Prison, Mercer Reformatory, General Hospital, Ossgoode Hall, Normal School, Traders Bank Building, Confederation Life Building, Canada Life Assurance Co. Building, Canadian Bank of Commerce, Dominion Bank and many others. The Traders Bank Building, 15 stories (210 feet) high, is credited with being the tallest building in the British Empire. There are many charitable institutions and organizations, including the Hospital for Sick Children, Boys' and Girls' Home, Homes for the Aged, General Hospital, Home for Incurables, House of Providence, Children's Shelter and the Notre Dame. Toronto is often called a city of homes, and is noted not only for its many fine residences but also for the uniformly comfortable and attractive appearance of the residential sections. The city is well supplied with places of amusement, having 33 public parks, three beaches, free Zoological Gardens, an island devoted to summer amusements, a number of athletic fields, yachting, rowing and canoe clubs, 6 large theatres, and Massey Hall, seating 5,000. It has a splendid police force with mounted contingent, and an ambulance corps, and is lighted with gas and electricity. The electric current for the street railway and for a large part of the city lighting is brought from Niagara Falls. It has the best annual exhibition in the world, held in the city, 25,500 telephones and 200 hotels. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers published; Leslieville, Eglinton, Mimico, Carleton, Woodbridge, Chester, Downsview, Davenport, Lambton Mills, Doncaster, Scarboro and Scarboro Junction, Don, Willowdale, Agincourt, Elmbank, Patterson, Cooksville, Port Credit and Maple.

WEEKLY, established 1872; agricultural; Thursday; subscription $1.00; twenty-four pages, 7 col., 19¾ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 18,760★

Advt.—The Daily Mail and Empire has a larger circulation in Toronto and Ontario than any other morning paper, and a larger morning circulation than any other paper in Canada. Books open to advertisers. The only paper in Canada having its own leased wire to New York, publishing every morning simultaneously the New York Sun's Financial service. The acknowledged financial authority of Canada. Reaches the best and most prosperous homes in Toronto and Ontario. Weekly Mail and Empire is a twenty-four page paper. Circulates among farmers only. See Advt. Pages 6 and 7.

NEWS, every evening except Sunday; News Publishing Co. of Toronto, Ltd., publishers, J. S. Willison, president, C. T. Pearce, general manager, 116 Yonge St.; established 1880; independent; subscription $3.00; twelve to twenty pages, Saturday twenty-four to thirty-two pages, 7 col., 21½ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 37,774★

Advt.—The News, Toronto, in a little over five years has increased its circulation from 15,000 to over 41,000. Five years ago it carried the smallest amount of advertising among the six Toronto dailies. To-day it is carrying more display advertising than at least four of these papers. Its circulation is entirely among the well-to-do and those in comfortable circumstances. The News circulation is practically all a home circulation, and it is consequently a great productive medium. See Advt. Pages 110 and 111.

STAR, every evening except Sunday; Star Ptg. and Pub. Co., publishers, J. E. Atkinson, man. director, 18-20 King St. W.; established 1892; independent-liberal; subscription $3.00; sixteen to thirty-two pages, 8 col., 20 inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 56,680★

Advt.—The Star has a larger circulation than any other paper published in the Province of Ontario, and carries more local and general advertising than any other paper published in the Province. Circulation within the city limits, 35,516; outside the city limits, 21,164. Circulation books open at all times; fullest inspection is invited. See Advt. Page 39.

TELEGRAM, every evening except Sunday; John Ross Robertson, publisher, cor. Melinda and Bay Sts.; established 1876; independent; subscription $3.00; sixteen to thirty-two pages, 7 col., 19¾ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 45,572★

Advt.—Through The Evening Telegram, single-handed, an advertiser can thoroughly cover the biggest English-speaking city in Canada. The Evening Telegram has the largest circulation in a city of 50,000 homes, and practically reaches nine-tenths of them every evening. The fact that it is the greatest "Want-Ad" medium in the Dominion of Canada shows that its readers realize its advertising strength. Circulation books always open for examination. See Advt. Page 115.

WORLD, every morning except Sunday; World Newspaper Co., publishers, W. F. Maclean, M.P., manager, Yonge St.; established 1880; independent; subscription $3.00, including Sunday edition $5.00; twelve to twenty-four pages, 7 col., 19¾ inches.

SUNDAY WORLD, subscription $2.00; thirty-two to forty pages, including illustrated supplement, 7 col., 19¾ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 38,624★

Advt.—The circulation of The Morning World in the City of Toronto is larger than the combined Toronto Circulation of both its morning contemporaries. A canvass of the news agents of Toronto proves this. The Sunday World goes into 30,206 Toronto homes every Saturday night and is read at a time when each member of the family has both time and inclination for reading. See Advt. Page 109.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

The Province of Quebec, the cradle of civilization in Canada, has a history more abounding in romance and episode than that of any other division of the American continent. Its discovery dates from 1534, and its regular colonization from the beginning of the 17th century. From this colony went forth the hardy French pioneers, who penetrated through the wilds surrounding the Great Lakes, into the plains and prairies of the unknown West and North-West, and down the valley of the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico, and whose names still survive in many a town, lake and river of Western Canada and the United States. The scenery of Québec, along the St. Lawrence and Saguenay to Lake St. John and the regions beyond, is unsurpassed in grandeur, and is year by year attracting visitors from all parts of the continent and from Europe. The wealth of Quebec in minerals is proving to be very great, the asbestos mines, among others, being now acknowledged to be the richest in the world. The production from these mines in 1907 amounted to $2,482,984. There are large deposits, yet undeveloped to any great extent, of peat, gold, silver and other minerals. Quebec is penetrated in every part by rivers and streams, and the amount of water power still unutilized is inconceivable to those who have not explored the province. The facilities thus afforded for mill operations point out the province as a great future seat of manufacturing, especially in paper and pulp making, these water powers being interspersed among vast tracts of spruce, poplar, hemlock and other pulp woods, unequalled in the world for their qualities for pulp and paper making. By an Order in Council passed in 1896 the northern boundaries have been extended to the shores of Hudson Bay, the area of Quebec being now 351,873 sq. miles. Less than 4% of the total area of the province was under crop in 1907. Over 55 million bushels of cereals were produced, consisting chiefly of wheat, 1,739,727 bushels; oats, 41,327,762 bushels; barley, 2,885,347 bushels; buckwheat, 1,847,821 bushels; corn in ear, 1,376,892 bushels; peas, 1,017,223 bushels; beans, 329,748 bushels and mixed grains, 3,819,770 bushels. The potato crop amounted to 22,910,753 bushels; roots to 11,311,490 bushels; hay to 4,188,441 tons and fodder corn to 420,512 tons. The province's showing in live stock in the same year was as follows: horses, 351,176; milch cows, 876,135; other cattle, 668,693; sheep, 626,033; swine, 729,453 and poultry, 4,342,241. The value of the fish caught in the waters of the province in 1907 was $2,175,035. The population at the last census in 1901, was 1,648,898, and is now estimated at 1,650,000. It has 65 counties, 5 districts, 8 cities, 101 towns, and over 1,500 villages. In 1907 the province had 3,516 miles of railway, the Canadian Pacific, Intercolonial, Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk being the most important systems. A dual system of education exists in the province, there being Roman Catholic school boards and Protestant school boards. The Roman Catholic boards have under their charge 4,464 elementary schools, 528 model schools, 149 academies, two normal schools, 16 classical colleges and two universities, these institutions having 298,524 pupils of all grades. Under the Protestant school boards, there are 898 elementary schools, 44 model schools, 30 academies, one normal school, three classical colleges and two universities, these schools, with the exception of colleges and universities, having 37,407 pupils of all grades. Besides these, there are seven non-sectarian schools of arts and manufactures, five schools of agriculture and dairying and other miscellaneous institutions of learning. Quebec sends to the Dominion parliament 65 members, and is represented there by 24 senators, the same number as for Ontario. Its provincial legislature has two Houses, the Upper House, or Legislative Council, having 24 members, and the Legislative Assembly, 74 members. The provincial capital is Quebec City.

 mucilage, paper boxes, telephones, all kinds of wooden ware, boilers, engines and machinery of all kinds, including sewing machines and type setting machines, locomotives, railway coaches and freight cars, ships, boats, saws, files and agricultural implements.
 It is the headquarters of the two great railway corporations, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific, whose works here employ several thousand hands in each case.

Montreal first began to be settled by Europeans in 1542; and exactly one century later the spot destined to be the city was consecrated with due solemnities, commended to the "Queen of Angels," and called Ville-Marie, a name which it retained for a long period.
 In 1760 it was taken by the English. Early in the last century vessels of more than three hundred tons could not ascend to Montreal, and its foreign trade was carried on by small brigs and barges.
 In 1809 the first steam vessel, "The Accommodation," built by the Hon. John Molson, made a trip to Quebec. She had berths for twenty passengers. Years of industry and intelligence, enterprise and labor have produced a mighty contrast. Ocean steamers drawing up to 30 feet of water, from all parts of the world, now lie alongside of the wharves in the harbor, which are not equalled in Canada in point of extent, accommodation, approach and cleanliness.
 Montreal is noted for its charitable and religious institutions, some of which were founded nearly 250 years ago. The oldest church in the city is the Bonsecours (Roman Catholic); it was erected in 1638, was burnt in 1764, but rebuilt in 1771. The principal buildings are the City Hall, Court House, Post Office, Custom House, Board of Trade, Seminary of St. Sulpice, Convent of Notre Dame, General Hospital, Royal Victoria Hospital, Grey Nunnery, Montreal College, McGill University Buildings, Laval University, Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational Colleges, Young Men's Christian Association Building, Sailors' Institute, St. Mary's College, Montreal Diocesan College, Academy of Music, Royal Victoria College, His Majesty's Theatre, Theatre Francais, Arena, Victoria Skating Rink, and Deaf and Dumb Asylum. Many splendid banks and commercial buildings make the business section very solid and imposing; there are thirteen markets, including Bonsecours, a magnificent building with a lofty dome, fronting on the River. The city has over eighty churches, many of them, such as Notre Dame and St. James Cathedrals and St. James Methodist Church, famous throughout the country. The parish church of Notre Dame holds 10,000 to 12,000 persons. It is 255 feet long and 145 feet broad with two towers 220 feet high. In one of the towers is one of the largest bells in America weighing 12 tons. St. James Cathedral is even larger than this. Christ Church Cathedral is considered the most perfect specimen of Gothic architecture in America. Parks and squares are numerous, the chief being Mount Royal Park, covering 430 acres, and affording from the magnificent new "Look out" one of the finest urban views of the continent. Montreal is the head of ocean navigation on the St. Lawrence, and its shipping trade is the largest of any city in Canada. It is the head port of eight steamship companies, one of which (the Allan line) is among the largest in the world. Over 6,000 vessels arrive annually during the season of navigation. Its granite docks extend nearly twelve miles up and down the river. Vast improvements are now in progress and 14 new steel harbor sheds have recently been completed. Montreal has about two-thirds of the banking capital of Canada, no less than eight of its chartered banks having their head offices here. Eleven other banks have branches here, making over 65 branches in the city altogether. Two splendid steel bridges span the St. Lawrence, one from the south-west part of the city to St. Lambert, on the opposite shore, and the other about seven miles above the city. The educational facilities of the city comprise the universities of McGill and Laval with faculties of law, arts, science, medicine, and veterinary science, and theological colleges connected with the Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Church of England and Roman Catholic churches; a high school, normal school, and a number of private and public schools and several classical and scientific academies, also a medical college affiliated to Victoria College, Toronto, and the medical faculty of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville. Montreal is divided into twenty wards, and has over 220 miles of streets and lanes. Electric car lines have 85 miles of tracks. The city sends five members to the House of Commons and six to the Local Legislature.

GAZETTE, every morning except Sunday; Gazette Printing Co., Ltd., publishers; Richard White, president; established 1778; conservative; subscription $6.00; twelve to twenty-four pages, 7 col., 20¾ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 15,112★

WEEKLY, Thursday; established 1775; subscription 50c.; eight pages, 7 col., 20¾ inches.

Advt.—The Gazette is the only English morning daily in Montreal, and is the most effective medium to reach a community by far the wealthiest in Canada. Although a high-priced paper, The Gazette has the largest circulation of any morning paper in the Province of Quebec, and is acknowledged throughout the Dominion to be the best newspaper for commercial news. It is delivered to the homes and ninety per cent. of its circulation goes to permanent subscribers. See Advt. Page 38.

HERALD, every evening except Sunday; The Herald Publishing Co., Ltd., publishers, Jas. S. Brierley, Managing Director; established 1808; liberal; subscription $3.00; fourteen to twenty-eight pages, 7 col., 21 inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 24,296★

Advt.—Advertisers who desire to cover Montreal, the Province of Quebec and Eastern Ontario find the Herald invaluable. Its sworn circulation of 24,296, largely exclusive, is among the great middle classes—the people with means to buy and the business instinct to make the best use of their money. This field the wise general advertiser persistently cultivates, and he can reach an important part of it through the Herald's columns. See Advt. Pages 30 and 31.

STAR, every evening except Sunday; Montreal Star Publishing Co., Ltd., publishers, 163-5-7-9 St. James St.; established 1869; independent; subscription $3.00; sixteen to thirty-two pages, 8 col., 21½ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 66,595★

Advt.—The Montreal Daily Star is admittedly "Canada's Greatest Newspaper." Its "Proven" circulation (General or Local), is greater than the combined circulation of all the other English newspapers in Montreal and three times greater than that of any of the others. See Advt. Pages 1, 2, 3.

FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY STAR, weekly edition of Star; established 1869; Wednesday; subscription $1.00; twenty-four to thirty-two pages, 8 col., 21½ inches.

Sworn Circ'n, actual average for 12 mos. to Dec. 31, 1908, 129,552★

Advt.—The Star is the only paper in Canada embodying in its advertising contracts its circulation figures, and giving to advertisers the right to check the circulation figures, and if found inconsistent with the publishers' claims, to refuse to pay the accounts rendered for such advertising. See Advt. Pages 1, 2, 3.

WITNESS, every evening except Sunday; John Dougall & Son, editors and publishers, corner Craig and St. Peter Sts.; established 1860; independent; subscription $3.00; twelve to twenty-four pages, 6 col., 17 inches. Circ'n 13¼

WEEKLY, Tuesday; established 1845; independent; twenty-four pages, 6 col., 17 inches. Circ'n 22

Also publish the Northern Messenger and World Wide.

Advt.—The Witness, Daily and Weekly, appeals to the intelligent, the moral, the broadminded element in the community, and has at once the support of the leading business and professional classes and the well-to-do family class. With a constituency of some 200,000 readers, its influence is past estimating. Founded by John Dougall in 1845 and continued by his son, John Redpath Dougall, to the present time, and throughout this time adhering to the same principles. See Advt. Page 9.

LE CANADA, French, every morning except Sunday; The Canada Publishing Co., Ltd., publishers; established 1903; liberal; subscription $3.00; ten to twenty-four pages, 7 col., 21½ inches.

QUEBEC, pop. 80,000, Co. Quebec, is situated on the left bank of the * River St. Lawrence at Point des Monts, and on C. P. R., G. T. R., I. C. R., Quebec Central, Can. Nor. Quebec and Lake St. John Rys., 180 miles N. E. of Montreal, and 328 miles N. W. of Portland, Me., lat. (of N. E. bastion) 46° 49' 6" N., long. 71° 13' 45" W.; Tel., T., Ex., Banks. Chief Industries: ship building, manufacture of iron castings, machinery, cutlery, nails, cartridges and shells, leather, paper, church ornaments, boots and shoes, rope, tobacco and cigars, steel, rifles, corsets, cotton, furs, patent medicines and wine, and extensive shipping. Levis, immediately opposite, is connected by a ferry and many of the business men and clerks of Quebec reside there. Quebec is the capital of the Province of Quebec. In the grandeur of its site and surroundings, in the strength of its fortifications, in the extent and romance of its history, and hospitality and kindness of its citizens, Quebec stands supreme among the cities of America. The city has a remarkably picturesque situation between the two rivers at the north-eastern extremity of a narrow but elevated tableland, which for about eight miles forms the left bank of the River St. Lawrence. Cape Diamond, the extremity of the tableland, is 333 feet above the level of the river, to which it presents a nearly precipitous face; the descent to the St. Charles River is more gradual. The distance from one river to the other is little more than a mile. Opposite Cape Diamond the St. Lawrence is contracted to a breadth of 1,314 yards; but immediately below, at the confluence of the St. Charles, it spreads out into a broad and beautiful basin, more than 2,500 yards wide, forming a capacious and excellent harbor. The Spring tides rise and fall 18 to 22 feet. Quebec is divided into two parts called Upper and Lower Towns. The Upper Town occupies the highest part of the promontory; a small part of it is surrounded with walls, and otherwise fortified. The ancient citadel, which crowns the summit of Cape Diamond, covers, with its numerous works, an area of 40 acres, and from its position is the strongest natural fortress in America. The Lower Town, which is the seat of commerce, is built around the base of Cape Diamond, where, in many places, the rock has been cut away to make room for the houses. The banks of both rivers are lined with warehouses and wharves, the latter jutting about 200 feet into the stream, and along them the water is sufficiently deep to admit vessels of the largest size. The city has several times suffered from disastrous fires, but the result has been the erection of more attractive buildings and a consequent improvement in the general appearance of the city. In the Upper Town are several squares and public walks commanding views unrivalled for their varied and picturesque appearance. In one stands a substantial monument, erected to the joint memory of Generals Wolfe and Montcalm, the English and French commanders who fell in the taking of Quebec in 1759. It is 65 feet high. A monument 40 feet high marks the spot where General Wolfe fell on the Plains of Abraham; while on St. Foy Road stands a monument presented by Prince Napoleon Bonaparte in 1855, commemorating a fierce struggle which took place here in 1760 between the British and French troops. Among the public buildings of Quebec may be mentioned the new Parliament Buildings; Drill Hall; the Roman Catholic Cathedral, with a seating capacity of 4,000 persons, and covering with the university attached an area of eight acres; the English Cathedral, surmounted by a lofty spire, both occupying elevated positions in the Upper Town, the Chateau Frontenac, Bishop's Palace and French Basilica. There are numerous churches in Quebec and one synagogue. The educational institutions comprise three Roman Catholic Colleges, viz: Laval University, with faculties of arts, law and medicine; the Grand Seminary and the Minor Seminary; the Ursuline Convent, an extensive establishment founded in 1641; several nunneries; Laval, Normal and Model schools; Girls' High school; the Quebec High school, and a number of private academies and public schools. There are in addition, a Canadian Institute, provided with a library and reading room; the Literary and Historical Society, the oldest chartered institution of its kind in Canada, having been founded in 1824, and possessing valuable "Records of the Realm" in eighty or ninety folios, and a large collection of historical manuscripts; the Entomological Society, St. Patrick's Literary Institute, Advocates' Library, Board of Trade, Merchants' Exchange and the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The principal benevolent institutions are the Marine Hospital, the Hotel Dieu, the Jeffery Hale Hospital, General Hospital, Finlay Asylum, Church of England Women's Home, Female Orphan Asylum, and the Lunatic Asylum at Beauport. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: New Liverpool, Beauport, Isle of Orleans, Sillery, St. Anne de Beaupre, Hedleyville, Portneuf, Lorette, Montmorency Falls, Indian Lorette, St. Joseph, St. Romuald, St. Nicholas, Etchemin and Charlesbourg.

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

In bare outline of fact New Brunswick may be described as the largest of the Maritime Provinces; as a stretch of country covering an area of 27,985 square miles and having a population estimated at something more than 350,000. But New Brunswick is more than that. It is a Province with mile on mile of valuable timber limits, extensive stretches of arable land, a number of mineral deposits, wonderful wealth of fisheries and a progressive people who are realizing more and more fully the possibilities of this part of the Dominion. Lumbering and fishing are the two great industries of the Province. The estimated forest area of the province is 7,500,000 acres, and thousands of men find employment in various branches of the lumber industry. Upwards of 250,000,000 feet of lumber—exclusive of laths, etc.—are sent out from the mills of the St. John River annually, and great quantities are exported from the North Shore and Bay ports as well. In 1905 the provincial fisheries employed 19,406 people, of whom 12,937 followed fishing in boats; 348 vessels and 7,600 fishing boats were in use, and the value of the fisheries amounted to $4,847,090. Farming is, of course, another very important branch of the people's activity. Each year sees new lands available for the farmer and the adoption of more advanced agricultural methods. In 1907 there were 1,087,626 acres in crop, an increase of 20% over 1901. Dairying, too, is a very important industry. Deposits of coal, iron, copper, gold, galena, albertite, salt and grindstones, have been found in different sections. Petroleum has also been found in Westmoreland County. Some of the coal mines, especially those of Queens County, have been declared to be very valuable properties. New Brunswick has a number of splendid rivers, chief among them the St. John—sometimes styled the Rhine of America. It is a beautiful scenic river 500 miles or so in length and navigable for over 200 miles, with the splendid harbor of St. John—a winter port—at its mouth. Other rivers which may be mentioned are the Miramichi, the Nepisiguit and the Restigouche. The Intercolonial and the Canadian Pacific Railways both traverse the Province, with a number of branch lines. During the school year 1906-7 there were 1813 public schools in New Brunswick. The teachers numbered 1894, and the pupils 66,422. At the Normal School the enrollment was 384. New Brunswick is the home of three Universities—the University of Mount Allison in Sackville, the University of St. Joseph's at Memramcook and the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton. Fredericton is the Provincial Capital, and is the seat of the Normal School as well as of the University of New Brunswick. The Province is represented in the Dominion Parliament by nine Senators and thirteen Commonsers. The Provincial Legislature is made up of 46 members. There are three cities in the province—St. John, Fredericton and Moncton—and many towns and villages.

SAINT JOHN, pop. 50,000, Co. St. John, is pleasantly situated at * mouth of the St. John River on a rocky peninsula projecting into the harbor, 190 miles N.W. of Halifax and 483 miles E. of Montreal; Tel., T., Ex., Banks. Chief Industries: saw, grist, cotton and woollen mills, foundries, boiler and engine shops, shoe factories, wooden ware and tool factories, tanneries, carriage, soap, candle and box factories, furniture factories, ship building and fishing. The city contains forty churches, high, public and private schools and business colleges, a large number of religious and charitable institutions and societies, two large and several smaller hospitals, asylum, free public library, large exhibition buildings and grounds, immigration buildings, public market building costing $130,000, two large grain elevators, extensive wharves and warehouses and coal receiving depots, eleven banks and branches, and a flourishing Board of Trade, electric street railway, large numbers of hotels, etc. The harbor of St. John is capacious, safe and never obstructed by ice. Its entrance—two miles south of the city—is protected by islands, on which are quarantine hospital and a lighthouse. The ordinary rise of tide is 21 feet at low water. The waters of the harbour at high tide are 12 feet higher than those of the river, hence the phenomena of a fall outwards and inwards at every tide. St. John is the distributing point of a wide extent of country abounding in agricultural resources, minerals and valuable timber. Its admirable position at the mouth of one of the largest rivers in America, with a harbor open during the entire year, and regular steamboat connections with all parts of the province and of the United States, and with a system of railroads running in all directions, with extensive maritime and manufacturing interests, insure its rank as a city of great commercial wealth and importance. It is lighted with electricity and gas, and is well supplied with water from a lake four miles in the rear of the city. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: Fairville, Musquash, Northam, Bloomfield, Kingston, Welsford, Sutton and Willow Grove.

PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA.

The Province of Nova Scotia—called in its early days Acadia, and embracing under that term the territory of the present Province of New Brunswick as well—is bounded on the north and west by the Gulf of St. Lawrence, Strait of Northumberland and Bay of Fundy, and on the east and south by the Atlantic Ocean. Only a narrow neck of land separates the waters of the Bay of Fundy from the Strait of Northumberland. Standing out in the Atlantic, and commanding, in a commercial sense, the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the province is destined to be the great maritime force of the American continent. Each and every county in the whole province reaches the sea, and possesses one or more harbours; and the position of the province in this respect is unique in the geography of the world. The land area of Nova Scotia is 20,550 square miles, the internal water area 50 square miles, and the population in 1901 was 459,574. It has 18 counties, three cities, 25 incorporated towns and about 850 villages. The future maritime pre-eminence of Nova Scotia is not only indicated by its position on the sea, and by the natural tendencies of the population, but by the immense beds of excellent coal and large bodies of iron ore found side by side in the same counties, and eminently suited for ship building purposes. The output of Nova Scotia coal increased from 1,373,666 long tons in 1886 to over 5,730,000 in 1907, valued at about $11,460,000 at the mines. The output of 1907 was 560,000 tons more than that of 1905, and the demand for it in Quebec and other provinces is steadily increasing. The coal mines give employment to 12,100 men. During 1907 the quantity of gold mined in the province amounted to 15,000 oz., worth $300,000. The product of the iron mines is also large, while the province is rich in gypsum, copper, building stone, and other minerals as yet but partially developed. The value of the fisheries averages $8,000,000, and the annual value of farm produce is estimated at $16,000,000. The estimated area of forest lands is 5,803,350 acres, and the value of lumber cut in 1908 was $2,000,000. Among other products of the field, Nova Scotia has become famous for her apples, which are in great demand in England for their exceptionally fine flavour. In the last few years the production of apples has ranged from 400,000 barrels to 600,000 barrels; the value of the 1908 crop is estimated at $1,100,000, and new areas are each year being planted. The foreign trade for the fiscal year 1907-1908 was $32,651,651. In 1906 Nova Scotia had 2,446 schools with 100,332 pupils. The province has four universities—Acadia University at Wolfville, Dalhousie College and University at Halifax, University of King's College at Windsor, University of St. Francis Xavier's College at Antigonish—three colleges, a provincial normal school, an academy for the deaf, dumb and blind—the first in any British colony—a school of mining, horticulture and agriculture, and 18 county academies, besides high schools. Nova Scotia sends to the House of Commons 19 members, and to the Upper House 16 senators; its local legislature has 38 members in the Assembly and 21 in the Legislative Council. Capital, Halifax.

PROVINCE OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Though the smallest in area—having a land surface of only 2,000 square miles—Prince Edward Island is the most thickly settled and one of the most productive of the provinces of Canada. The population at the present time is estimated at about 100,000, an average of 50 to the square mile. There is scarcely a foot of land in Prince Edward Island not capable of cultivation, and the soil is uniformly rich. This natural advantage, coupled with the endowment of a temperate climate and regular rainfalls, has made the province famous as an agricultural and stock raising country. The Island horses; cattle and sheep are eagerly sought after both by Canadian and United States buyers. But it is in dairying and in the meat business that Prince Edward Island has made remarkable strides. It is now sometimes referred to as "The Denmark of Canada." In 1903 there were 41 dairy stations in operation, manufacturing 2,729,556 lbs. of cheese and 556,452 lbs. of butter, the total value of both being $386,168. The number of stations has since grown to 47, with value of output varying from year to year up to $500,000. Among other agricultural products, the Island oats and potatoes are famous throughout America and the West Indies for their excellence, the foreign demand for these products being steadily on the increase. In 1907 the number of bushels of oats raised was 6,313,872 and of potatoes 5,452,830. The hay crops are also celebrated, being produced from indigenous clover and grasses, and it is to the high quality of these crops that the superiority of the Island live stock is largely due. The fishing interests of the Island are also important, its position in the Gulf giving it great advantages. The value of the fish taken by Prince Edward Island fishermen in 1906 was $1,168,939, of which about two thirds was exported to foreign countries. The principal fish caught are mackerel, herring, cod, hake, lobsters and oysters. The annual take of lobsters is about 2½ million pound cans, and of oysters about 20,000 barrels, the Prince Edward Island oysters—especially those of Malpeque Bay—being esteemed the finest in flavour of any on the Atlantic coast. The railway system of the Island, some 265 miles in length, is of 3 feet 6 inches gauge and is entirely owned and operated by the Government of Canada. The park-like scenery of the Island, and its even temperature and charming summer weather, together with an abundance of the finest sea trout and good shooting in season, are year by year attracting tourists and health seekers to the province from all parts of the continent. Official statistics show that the Province has less crime and vice in proportion to population than any other Province of Canada and compares favorably in that regard with any country in the world. The sale of liquor for beverage purposes has been prohibited by law since 1901. Prince Edward Island in 1906 had 480 public schools, with 268 male teachers and 294 female teachers, and a total of 19,031 pupils. In the same year it had 441 post offices. Prince Edward Island is represented in the Dominion Parliament by four senators and four members of the House of Commons. Its local government is carried on by a single house, the Legislative Assembly, having 30 members. Capital, Charlottetown.

CHARLOTTETOWN, pop. 13,000, Co. Queens, is pleasantly situa* ted on a neck of land between North and Hillsborough Rivers, overlooking a fine harbor; Tel., T., Ex., Banks. It has regular steamboat connection with Canadian and American ports, and is the Provincial capital. Chief Industries: foundries, machine shops, flour, woollen, saw, shingle and planing mills, tanneries, agricultural implement, soap, butter, cheese and tobacco factories and farming. The city contains nine churches, good public schools, the Government buildings, court house, markets, city hall, public hall, drill hall, Prince of Wales and St. Dunstan colleges, normal school, convents, lunatic asylum, gaol, etc. It is lighted with gas and electric light. Has good system of water works and sewerage. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: Lower Montague, Dundas, Georgetown, Cornwall, New Haven, Bedeque, Kelly's Cross, Annadale, Southport, Emerald, Victoria, Eldon, Mount Stewart, Webster's Corner, Vernon River Bridge and Kensington.

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA.

The area of the Province of Manitoba was greatly increased by Act of the last Federal Parliament, the Northern Boundary having been altered from the 53rd parallel of latitude to the 60th parallel, making the Province more than three times its original size, and augmenting its territory by a tract containing great wealth in minerals, timber, fisheries, furs and agricultural land. Extending northward to the Hudson Bay, Manitoba is the only prairie province which has a boundary on the sea. The whole province contains over 41,000,000 acres of agricultural land and 6,000,000 acres of water surface. The population is fast approaching the half million mark, and the acreage under cultivation is steadily increasing. The acreage and yield of grain for 1908 was 49,252,534 bushels of wheat from 2,850,640 acres; 44,686,043 bushels of oats from 1,216,622 acres; 18,135,787 bushels of barley from 658,441 acres; 502,206 bushels of flax from 50,187 acres; 334,609 bushels of rye from 17,611 acres; 117,033 bushels of peas from 6,903 acres; and 5,148,696 bushels of potatoes from 29,963 acres. The number of grain elevators and store houses in the Province is now 678 and 13 respectively, with a total capacity of 20,558,500 bushels. The threshing outfits needed to handle the crop number 2,287. The area prepared for the 1909 crop is over 20% larger than that of 1908. The value of dairy products in 1908 was $1,400,269, chiefly butter. The facilities for railroad transportation are exceptional, there being at present over 4,000 miles of railroad in the Province, and the building of the National Transcontinental which is now in progress will add a great many more. All these railroads radiate from Winnipeg, the capital of the Province and the metropolis of Western Canada. Practically speaking Manitoba has no problem of the poor or the unemployed, and this in spite of the fact that immigration into the Province is very great. It scarcely knows, except by hearsay, what depression and hard times mean. The industrial life of the Province is in a healthy condition, the greatest industry in the way of manufacturing being flour milling. In addition to this there are large meat packing establishments; cold storage plants; breweries; biscuit factories; oat-meal mills; bag, cloth, skirt, overall, shirt, underwear, awning and tent factories; box factories; large carriage factories and a large number of other industries. In the several cities of the Province are also found the head quarters or western branches of many of the largest commercial and wholesale companies of Canada; and a great number of financial institutions such as trust companies, loan companies, fire and life insurance companies, banks, etc., have their head offices in the Province. The northern part of the Province is very valuable for its fish, lumber and mines. Over 8,000,000 pounds of fish were taken in Lake Winnipeg alone during the past year, while in the forests of the north is illimitable wealth of pine, spruce, elm, ash, poplar, birch, tamarack and fir useful for lumber, fire-wood and pulpwood. The Legislature of the Province consists of 41 members, while 10 representatives are sent to the Federal House of Commons and 4 Senators to the Upper House. Religion and education are carefully fostered and our schools are in a healthy condition. There are in Manitoba 1443 district schools with 1943 departments. There are 2480 teachers, and the total number of children of school age is 81,013, of whom 67,144 are actually enrolled. The Province supports a well equipped University with which are affiliated colleges supported by the stronger denominational bodies, and an Agricultural College which is second to none on the Continent. Winnipeg, the Provincial capital, has a population exceeding 120,000.

WINNIPEG, pop. 122,500, Co. Selkirk, the capital of the province, is situated at the confluence of the Assiniboia and Red Rivers, 40 miles S. of Lake Winnipeg, 1,425 miles W. of Montreal and 1,481 miles E. of Vancouver; Tel., T., Ex., Banks. Eighteen main or branch lines of railroad centre in the city. Chief Industries: flour, saw, planing, grist and oatmeal mills, foundries, machine shops, breweries, manufactories of soap, biscuit, confectionery, clothing, boots and shoes, pickles and sauces, aerated waters, cured meats, linseed oil, quarries, abattoirs, etc. Winnipeg is the wholesale and jobbing centre of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. It has forty-one branches of eighteen chartered banks. Bank clearings, 1900, $106,956,720; 1905, $369,868,179; 1906, $504,585,914; 1907, $599,667,376; 1908, $614,111,801. The city contains 122 churches and missions, 33 public schools, with a registered attendance exceeding 15,000, and six parochial schools with 1200 pupils, six colleges, a university, new agricultural college, academies, ladies' schools, the Provincial Government buildings, court house, gaols, chief offices of the Dominion Government in the west, city hall, million dollar Canadian Pacific Railway Hotel, $135,000 Carnegie library, Industrial Exhibition building costing $160,000, markets, fire stations and police stations, water works, electric street and house lighting, gas, electric street railway, seven bridges, permanent and volunteer military force. The history of Winnipeg, with its wonderful growth and progress, reads like a chapter from some romance. Buildings erected in 1900 estimated cost $1,441,863; in 1901, $1,708,557; 1902, $2,408,125; 1903, $5,689,400; 1904, $9,651,750; 1905, $10,846,200; 1906, $12,736,250; years 1903-4-5, $26,187,350; years 1906-7-8, $24,562,200. Thirty-five years ago Winnipeg's population was less than 1,000, and the school attendance was only 35; it was but a post of the Hudson Bay Co., without churches, streets or railroads, and but a few years previously the Indian chased herds of buffalo across the prairie where the city now stands. It is now the railroad and business centre of the Canadian Northwest. Twenty-two railway tracks radiate from it, and the C.P.R. yard here, with its 110 miles of sidings, is the largest in the world controlled by a single corporation. 3,600 railway employees reside in the city. It is in the famous Red River Valley, and surrounded by good farming, timber, and mining districts with extensive lake fisheries. The streets of the city are generally wide, the principal avenues being 132 feet, and many are paved with asphalt, block and macadam. The sidewalks are concrete, tile and plank. The city is spreading rapidly over a wide territory, with its wide streets and its detached houses. Not less than 13,990 acres have been covered by its 166 miles of sewers, 296 miles of paved and graded streets, 100 miles of which are boulevarded, and 350 miles of sidewalks. Approximately 18½ miles of water mains have been laid down since the city's incorporation about 35 years ago. There are over 14,000 sewer and over 19,000 water connections. In 1890 the rateable assessment of the city was $18,612,410; in 1900, $25,077,460; in 1902, $28,615,810, in 1905, $62,727,630; in 1906, $80,511,725, and in 1908, $116,400,660. These facts give some idea of the rapid progress being made. The grain business of the Canadian West centres in Winnipeg, and for the last year the amount of wheat exports exceeded 70,000,000 bushels. This is evidence enough of the nature of the soil tributary to Winnipeg. In addition to agriculture a considerable fishing business is done in the large Northern lakes, and timber and mining enterprises abound on their shores. Winnipeg city owns and operates its own asphalt paving plant, its own quarry, public lighting, water works, including high pressure system for fire protection costing $560,000, and fire alarm plants. Winnipeg has decided to encourage manufacturers by affording cheap power. A power site has been secured on the Winnipeg River where a total of 60,000 h.p. can be developed. The citizens have passed a by-law authorising the city to borrow $3,250,000 to be used in acquiring this site and installing the necessary plant and works to bring additional power to the city, where a private power company now operates. The city owns and operates its own gas plant to provide power for its high pressure system of waterworks.

PROVINCE OF SASKATCHEWAN.

The Province of Saskatchewan was established by Act of the Dominion Parliament on September 1st, 1905, with capital at Regina. It comprises the eastern portion of what was formerly the territories of Assiniboia and Saskatchewan, and occupies a part of the great alluvial plain of the Canadian Northwest, the most fertile wheat field in the world. Saskatchewan lies immediately west of Manitoba, extending from the United States Boundary Line, 49° N. Latitude, to 60° N. Latitude, and from about 101° 20" W. Longitude to 110° W. Longitude. Its length from north to south is 740 miles, and its breadth 375 miles. Its land area is 224,887 square miles, and its water area 27,000 square miles. It has the largest acreage of any Canadian Province suitable for growing hard spring wheat—in fact, the largest continuous area in the world. No less than 50,000,000 acres of its land are capable of raising an average of 20 bushels to the acre, a large proportion of which will grade No. 1 Northern. Of this less than 6,000,000 acres were under crop in 1908. There are 86,000 square miles of land suitable for grain growing, 32,000 square miles more that only need irrigation to fit them for raising wheat, and over 100,000 square miles suited for ranching and mixed farming. Wheat growing is, of course, the chief business of the province. The crop of wheat in 1908 was 50,590,070 bushels; of oats, 48,827,759 bushels; barley, 3,969,334 bushels, and of flax, 2,636,691 bushels. It took over two thousand threshing machines to handle the crop. The total elevator capacity in the province is over 13,000,000 bushels. Thousands of settlers are pouring in from Eastern Canada, Great Britain, the United States and Europe, attracted by the cheap, but exceedingly productive and valuable land. The average value of Saskatchewan farm lands at the present time is a little over $20.00 an acre. Timber is found in some sections, generally along the banks of streams, lakes and rivers. Valuable deposits of coal have also been found as well as petroleum. The population of Saskatchewan in 1906, according to the Government figures, was 257,763, an increase of 166,484, or over 180 per cent. from 1901, and it is now considerably over 300,000. In 1907 there were over 2,000 miles of railway in the province, and new lines and branches are being built in all directions. The Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern, Grand Trunk Pacific and Great Northern Railways are rapidly extending their lines, and the whole province will soon be supplied with means of transportation. Towns and villages are springing up quickly along the railways, and already there are 4 cities, 39 towns and 94 villages. Banking facilities are provided by a large and increasing number of branches of most of the chartered banks of Canada. The climate, although rather severe in winter, is more moderate than that of Manitoba, and is delightful in summer, the long, sunny days being admirably suited for maturing the wheat rapidly. The province is governed by a Lieutenant-Governor, an Executive Council and a Legislative Assembly of 41 members. Capital, Regina.

PROVINCE OF ALBERTA.

On Sept. 1st, 1905, the formal inauguration of the new Province of Alberta took place at Edmonton. In the few years which have passed since, the Province has developed wonderfully. "Sunny Alberta" is one of the favored districts of the world—attractive in the beauty of its rolling prairie, foothills and mountains, in its magnificent climate, and in the wonderful richness of its varied resources. It extends from the 49th parallel on the south to the 60th on the north, a distance of 750 miles, and from the 110th meridian on the east to the 120th on the west, giving it a breadth of 400 miles. Its area is 254,559 square miles—over 160 million acres, of which 120 million acres are suitable for cultivation. Up to the present only about one million acres are under cultivation. The influx of population has been steady and rapid, and there are now 275,000 people making their homes in Alberta. The eastern part of the province is a rolling prairie, a large part of which is admirably adapted to raising the first quality of hard wheat. Farther west come the foothills of the Rockies, and a territory probably unexcelled for ranching, mixed farming and raising the famous "Alberta Red" wheat. The largest irrigation system in the world is under construction in the province and some remarkably fertile land is being opened up. The grain yield of 1908 reached the large total of 21,000,000 bushels valued at over $10,000,000. Alberta wheat has taken highest awards against grain from the most renowned wheat districts of the continent. At the west of the Province, forming the boundary line for nearly 400 miles between it and British Columbia, rise the grand old Rocky Mountains. Here much of the mineral wealth of the province is located. Large deposits of coal have been found in "The Pass" district, near Medicine Hat, Edmonton, Calgary and other points. Natural gas and petroleum are also found at various points from the United States boundary to the Peace River district. Zinc deposits are extensively worked in the neighborhood of Frank. The climate is much milder and more equable than that of the Prairie Provinces, owing to the shelter of the Rocky mountains and the influence of the balmy Chinook winds. Clear, dry frosty weather in the winter, with a light snowfall, and long days of summer sunshine have earned the name "Sunny Alberta." The Peace River District at the north, almost 400 miles square, has been scarcely opened up yet for farming, though it ranks as one of the greatest fur producing districts in the world. More raw furs are marketed at Edmonton than in any other city in the world. Tests have proved, too, that almost every part of this territory will grow wheat and rough grains. The province is served by three great railway systems, the Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific. It has five cities and 51 towns and villages, while new towns are springing up very rapidly. The Government consists of a Lieutenant-Governor, Executive Council and a Legislative Assembly of 25 members. Capital at Edmonton.

AIRDRIE, pop. 250, District of Gleichen, on the Calgary and Edmonton Div. C.P.R., 20 miles N. of Calgary; Tel., T. Ex., Bank. Chief Industries: mixed farming and ranching. The town contains three churches and a school, and has a Board of Trade.

Point for Edmonton and northern points, for Macleod and southern points and for Donald, B.C., and western points, making it the centre of the opening of the new and vast country which is annually attracting settlers in large numbers; Tel., T., Ex., Banks. Chief Industries: farming, ranching and manufactories of ale, beer and temperance drinks, biscuits, breakfast foods, rolled oats, flour, bricks, cement and cement blocks, rough and finished lumber, beds and mattresses, show cases, saddlery, tents, confectionery, cigars, meat products, soap and waggons. Calgary is the most important, as well as the most picturesque town between Brandon and Vancouver. It is beautifully situated on a plateau at an altitude of 3,388 feet, overlooked by the snow-capped peaks of the Rockies. It is the centre of the trade of the northern part of the great ranching country and the chief source of supply for the mining districts in the mountains beyond. The net assessment for 1908 was $17,941,678. It has thirteen branches of Canadian chartered banks, excellent police and fire protection, 130 miles of streets with 21 miles of granolithic sidewalks, 19 miles of sewers and 30 miles of water-mains. Lumber is largely made here from logs floated down Bow River. Calgary is an important Station of the R. N. W. M. P. and a post of the Hudson Bay Company. The city contains twenty-six churches, two colleges, normal school, high school, nine public schools, two public hospitals, two large theatres, twenty hotels, Y. M. C. A. building, Carnegie library, railway shops and splendid public buildings. Surrounding towns and villages where no papers are published: Shepard, Langden, Strathmore, Turner, Keith and Canmore.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

British Columbia, the largest of all the provinces of the Canadian Confederation, has a land area of 370,191 sq. miles, and a water area of 2,439 sq. m., being more than the combined areas of France, Italy, Belgium and Holland. All the great natural features of the other provinces are here reproduced on a magnified scale, the great prairies of the North-West alone excepted. It has a greater variety of climate than any other province, for while the upper slopes of the Rockies are as cold as Labrador, the southern coast is so warm that oranges have been ripened in the open air. Taken as an average the climate is mild and equable and resembles that of many parts of England. Its many splendid valleys and level plateaus are exceedingly fertile. Its wonderful coast line of thousands of miles embracing hundreds of harbors; its unrivalled fisheries; its stupendous forests, many trees of which measure from 8 to 10 feet in diameter; its incalculable wealth in those minerals which are the most valued by, and most necessary to man, and its peculiar geographical position on the Pacific Coast, all mark out the province as one of the imperial realms of the future. Agriculture and fruit culture are growing rapidly with the spread of mining, both south and north. In 1906 the average production per farm was $1,543—the highest in the Dominion. The value of the farm crops in 1906 was $6,500,000, of fruit crops $1,250,000, of dairy and hog products $2,000,000. The timber cut in 1908 was worth $20,000,000. In fisheries, its vast salmon industries make it a close second to Nova Scotia, the total value of British Columbia fisheries in 1908 being $6,122,923; this is a fair annual average, and in addition nearly $500,000 worth of sealskins are taken annually in the open season. The wealth of British Columbia in minerals can as yet scarcely be calculated, for tracts of country thousands of square miles in extent are as yet untraversed by the prospector, and many regions known to be rich in minerals can not yet be reached by railways. Among the minerals mined or exported to a greater or less extent are gold, silver, coal, iron, copper, zinc, galena, mercury, cinnabar, platinum, antimony, bismuth, molybdenum, plumbago, salt, marble and mica, while many other minerals are known to exist. The coal of the province ranges from common lignite to anthracite, and most of it is admirably suited for steam purposes. The steam shipping trade of the whole American coast of the Pacific is now looking to British Columbia for its coal supplies. In addition to the vast supplies of coal on Vancouver Island, the extensive beds of the Crows Nest Pass have been proved to be excellent steam coal. The coal bearing areas so far explored are 65,000 sq. m. in extent, the quantity underlying portions of this area being estimated at four and a half to nine million tons per square mile. Gold is found in greater or less quantity all over the province, but the mines of the Kootenay and Cariboo districts are becoming prominent as quartz mining regions, while the Cassiar, Atlin Lake and other regions have developed rich placer mines. In 1908 the mineral production of the province was as follows: gold, $5,973,520; copper, $5,792,820; coal, $5,950,000; lead, $1,654,694; silver, $1,518,500; other materials, including coke, $2,968,001, making a total of $24,980,546. There are eleven smelters and one refinery in operation, with a capacity of nearly 8,000 tons per day. The population of British Columbia in 1891 was 92,767; at the census of 1901 it was 178,657, and at the present time it is estimated at about 260,000. The province has 293 schools, with a total enrolment of 33,314 pupils. The annual expenditure for education has increased from $171,311 in 1891 to $464,473 in 1908. The province is represented in the Dominion Parliament by three senators, and seven members of the House of Commons. The local government is carried on by a single chamber, the Legislative Assembly, having 42 members. Capital, Victoria.

YUKON TERRITORY.

Yukon Territory, Canada.—Population, in summer 9,000, in winter 6,000, as it is estimated that 3,000 leave annually to spend the winter on the coast. The only industry of the territory is mining, chiefly gold, of which $150,000,000 has been produced within the last ten years, nearly all from the vicinity of Dawson. Most of this gold was formerly taken out by old-fashioned methods of placer mining, but many capitalists are now invading the field and dredging and hydraulic mining, as well as gold and silver quartz mining, are now coming into vogue. Electric power and water supplies for operation are conveyed long distances where necessary. With modern methods it is expected that the output of the Yukon will be larger than ever before. Copper is also mined near White Horse. A large percentage of the vegetables consumed in the territory are raised there, but all other food-stuffs must be brought in from outside centres. Heavy mining machinery forms an important part of the imports. Altogether Yukon annually purchases millions of dollars worth of goods from outside. Every convenience of life is now afforded in the Territory, including steam-boat lines, railway connections from Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria to Dawson, and a superb winter stage relay system for travel in or out, so that connections can easily be made at any period of the year.

DAWSON CITY, pop. 5,000. The metropolis and seat of government of the Klondike gold fields on Yukon River. Tel., T., Ex., Banks. In proportion to its population, the richest town on earth; smallest piece of money in circulation there, 25 cts. Has five iron and steel foundries, five saw mills, five churches, three schools, insane asylum, court house, public buildings to value of $500,000; twenty steam-boats, three opera houses, five docks, twenty-nine hotels, perfect fire protection, water works, electric lights, etc. Outfits the vast Klondike area of gold filled sands, and exports over $20,000,000 in gold dust per year.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

Newfoundland, the oldest colony in the British Empire, embraces the Island of Newfoundland and a portion of the Labrador coast of the mainland, and is the only part of British North America not as yet included in the Dominion of Canada. Though proposals for confederation have at various times been made, and although the question is a live one, many of the leading men of the island are opposed to a union with Canada. The area of the island is estimated at 40,200 sq. m., and the Labrador coast at 120,000 sq. m. The population at the census of 1901 was 226,984, including Labrador. From its settlement in 1614 to a very recent time the fisheries have formed practically the only industry of the inhabitants, but the building of railways, and the exploration of the interior, is leading to the discovery and development of hitherto unknown resources that will give a steadiness and balance heretofore lacking in the commerce of the island. In minerals the island has copper, coal, iron, gypsum, sulphur, graphite, lead, asbestos and gold. Iron and copper are the principal minerals. Copper was discovered at Tilt Cove in 1856, but the mines were not operated until 1864. Since then several large deposits have been uncovered, and to-day Newfoundland stands sixth among the copper producing countries of the world. In 1895 brown hematite iron was discovered at Bell Island, Conception Bay. It is estimated that in the two deposits on the island there are 40,000,000 tons. The output of these mines and the shipments of iron pyrites are materially adding to the exports of the colony. Talc deposits have also been uncovered at Topsail, some 14 miles from St. John's, and shipments were made in 1904 to the United States. Besides the above, slate quarries were opened in 1904, and shipments sent to Wales. The value of minerals exported in 1902 was $1,260,381, and since then the output has been much larger. Within a couple of years vast timber limits have been operated, modern saw mills constructed, and numerous shipments made to the United Kingdom and South America. The lumber trade bids fair to become extensive. The value of the exports of lumber in 1905-6 is placed at $176,157. The pulp industry is also assuming large proportions under the management of British capitalists. More attention is being paid to agriculture. The number of acres under cultivation has increased within a few years from about 100,000 acres to close on 200,000 acres. The annual value of agricultural products is over $750,000, and the value of land under cultivation, together with horses, sheep, &c., is nearly $3,000,000. A movement is on foot to utilize the vast plains in the interior raising sheep and cattle for export to the United Kingdom. Fish is the chief product of Newfoundland, and out of a total value of $12,086,276 exports in 1905-6, $10,117,951 were of fish and fish products. The herring fisheries are commanding the attention of the Government. Expert herring packers were brought from Scotland, with the result that shipments of herring were sent to St. Petersburg, Russia, and sold at good prices. The whale fisheries are also becoming more extensive. The value in 1904 was $365,953. The settlement of the French shore question has been the means of adding greatly to the development not alone in connection with the fisheries, but other resources of the treaty shore. Plans are now being made for settlements there. The lobster fisheries alone in 1905-6 were valued at $376,490. The imports of Newfoundland in 1905-6 were $10,414,274, and the exports $12,086,276. In 1895 there were 2,339 vessels on the shipping register of the colony, with a total tonnage of 108,180 tons, and of the whole population no less than 53,502 persons were engaged in fishing. There are 846 post offices in the colony, but statistics of this department are not available. The government is carried on by a Legislative Council, consisting of 15 members, and a Legislative Assembly of 36 members. Capital, St. John's.

BAY OF ISLANDS, pop. 2,200, District of St. George's, on Bay of Islands and Humber River Arm, and on Reid Newfoundland Co. Ry., 408 miles W. of St. John's; Tel., Ex., Bank. Western headquarters of the Newfoundland Ry. and terminus for the short steamship service between Newfoundland and Labrador; rendezvous for the English and French naval ships in Newfoundland waters. Chief Industries: herring fishing worth $150,000 annually, salmon, cod and lobster fisheries, copper mining, slate quarrying; the shores are densely timbered and large saw mills are operated; a gigantic pulp industry is being inaugurated in the vicinity which will employ 2,000 operatives. There are ten surrounding towns, each with a population of from one to two thousand, where no newspapers are published. The scenery is magnificent. Salmon and trout and big game are abundant; these attract hundreds of tourists and sportsmen each season. Regular steamship service between Halifax and this part of Newfoundland. The town contains eight churches, ten schools, two hotels, court house and custom house.

BILL POSTING.

A one-sheet poster is 28 inches deep by 42 inches wide, and can only be posted in that position. The standard height of posters from 8-sheet size up is $9\frac{1}{4}$ feet. The width of an 8-sheet poster is 7 feet. Add $3\frac{1}{2}$ feet to the width for every 4 sheets added to the poster.

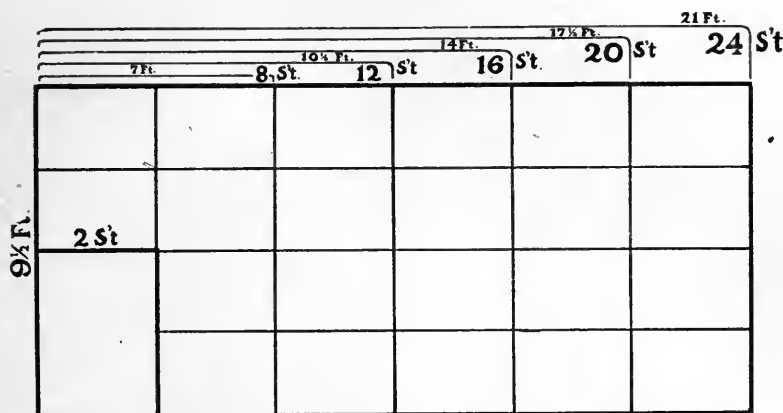

Diagram showing dimensions of posters.

BILL POSTING PLANTS.

All the plants below with the exception of those marked*, are operated under franchises from the Canadian Bill Posters and Distributors Association. Rates given are those in force January 1st, 1909, for listed and protected service per sheet for 4 weeks showing, and are subject to change.

Canada's Greatest :: :: Newspapers :: ::

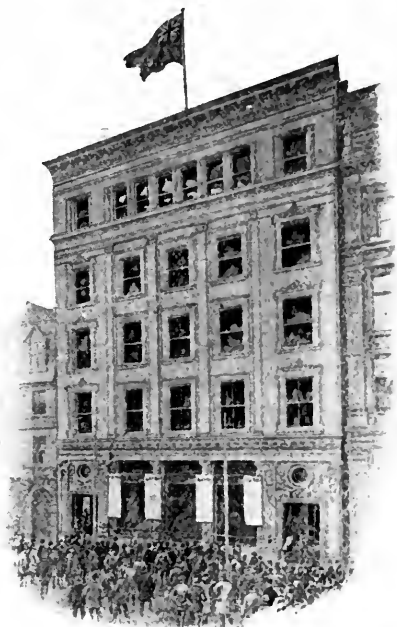

THE MONTREAL STAR IS known everywhere as "Canada's Greatest Newspaper," and the title is undisputed in the newspaper profession, or among the reading and advertising public.

The circulation of the Daily Star exceeds that of any other English paper in Canada, and it has a larger number of readers than all the other English daily papers in the whole Province of Quebec put together. The Weekly, known as "The Family Herald and Weekly Star," goes to every post office in Canada from which papers are circulated. It has more paid subscribers in Ontario alone than any Toronto paper has in all Canada; more in Manitoba and the Great West than any western paper has in the whole Dominion; more in the Maritime Provinces than any local paper has in all Canada; and more in the French-speaking Province of Quebec than all the other English Weeklies of Canada put together. The Daily STAR to-day has a circulation exceeding 67,000, while the Weekly circulation is over 130,000. It is doubtful if there exists, in any country, a medium that covers its territory as thoroughly as this combination of papers.

The Daily and Weekly STAR owe their large circulation to the high estimation and regard in which they are held by their readers and the general public.

The Daily STAR presents to its readers all the news in the most complete and readable form. Its attitude towards current events is entirely free from the prejudice of section or party. The constant aim is to contribute, in the largest possible measure, to the "greatest good of the greatest number" of the public. The best measure of the extent to which this aim is being realized is furnished by the steady and rapid growth of the STAR'S circulation. From 13,000 in 1877 to 45,000 in 1896, to 60,000 in 1906, and to 67,000 in 1908 is a record of growth that has never been approached by any other English newspaper in Canada.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star has secured its great mail circulation, exceeding 130,000 per issue, without a single paid canvasser, relying solely upon the attractiveness of the paper to get subscribers. Part of its attraction lies in its complete departments devoted to farm matters, children, general reading, news and magazine features, while an important element of its success is to be found in the number of postmasters and school teachers throughout Canada who act as its subscription agents.

The Montreal STAR has one distinctive feature that commends it specially to all the better classes of readers and advertisers. This is the strict censorship that is exercised over its advertising columns, for the exclusion of all objectionable or undesirable classes of advertising. When the STAR adopted this policy there were many who predicted that it would not be able to adhere to the stand it had taken. But in spite of the immediate financial sacrifice involved, the STAR has followed its course rigidly, and during this time its circulation and the volume of its advertising have increased beyond all previous records. To this policy may be attributed a large measure of the STAR'S rapid growth in the favor of both readers and advertisers.

The STAR presents to manufacturers and merchants in every line the greatest single force for business promotion in Canada. Its great aggregation of readers includes all the best classes in every community in which it circulates: this means the city of Montreal and the other cities and principal towns of Eastern Canada,—covered by the Daily STAR,—and every rural and village community in Canada,—covered by "The Family Herald and Weekly Star."

The rapid growth and expansion of Canada in population, resources and wealth places new and greater opportunities before the merchant and manufacturer. Those who apply this greatest of all selling forces,—advertising,—to the extension of their business, and select their mediums wisely and well, will have no cause to complain of lack of demand during the next few years, at least.

British and American firms realize the great value of this market, and are entering the field aggressively and with most profitable results. They, as well as leading Canadian firms, in every line, are using the columns of "Canada's Greatest Newspapers" to increase the volume and profits of their business.

The head office of the STAR, in Montreal, as well as the branch offices in Toronto, New York, Chicago, and London, England, are constantly kept busy answering trade inquiries and supplying information, statistics, etc., to the many firms interested in the Canadian market. The STAR'S complete business organization and equipment is at all times at the disposal of its advertisers and others who contemplate entering the field.

To Men who Advertise— Watch Us Grow !

There is a force, full of energy, behind the London Advertiser, plus the ability to do things, that is pushing the paper to the front and making it an essential factor in the success of those advertisers who require publicity throughout Western Ontario. The London Advertiser and its progressive policy causes it to be the talk of, and read by, the people of London and the surrounding district.

It's Home Subscriptions, It's Strength

The London Advertiser has a system of circulation whereby the paper is distributed direct to the home in over 95 % of its delivery. This insures you against unsold copies being distributed to agents. You know you are getting what you pay for. Just one other point—98 % of London Advertiser mail subscriptions are paid in advance. If you are figuring on an advertising campaign throughout Ontario, take advantage of our present fair rates and get the benefits of the increased circulation we are gaining daily.

During the month of October, 1908, the Free Press inserted large advertisements in prominent Eastern Canadian Dailies. These announcements dealt entirely with business conditions in Western Canada. They pointed out that the causes which had temporarily hampered the progress of the Canadian West were being rapidly removed and that an era of further development was at hand.

It is extremely gratifying, therefore, to find that statistics for the year 1908 tend to establish the fact that a great revival of business is now taking place throughout the West.

The bank clearings are considered one of the most accurate business thermometers, and we give below the story of the increase of commercial activity throughout the Canadian West as told by the bank clearings of Winnipeg.

An evening paper which is in every sense a home paper, diligent in news gathering, potent and constructive in its editorial policy.

The Ottawa Free Press

offers an almost exclusive service in Ottawa and the Ottawa Valley, not only on account of its position as the sole paper of its politics at the Capital of the country, but mainly because FREE PRESS readers usually don't need any other Ottawa paper.

¶ The Free Press is increasing more rapidly in circulation than any other newspaper in its field, and in the three years under its present management has legitimately won an unusual volume of public esteem and respect.

¶ Practically every local advertiser uses its columns. Indeed few Ottawa merchants would plan a campaign without it. The fact that it has carried for two years the greatest amount of display and reading advertising in its field seems to indicate that the merchants of its home city give it first place.

¶ Here are the figures of the display and reading advertising carried by the three Ottawa newspapers during 1908:—

Free Press, MORE than 263,000 inches
Second paper, less	251,000
Third paper, less	203,000

Here are the Free Press circulation figures:—

A Hint from an Advertising
Field-Marshal

WALDO P. WARREN is advertising manager for Marshall Field and Company, of Chicago, which claims to be the largest Departmental Store in the world. In advising a young colleague he recently wrote as follows:—

"I wish to outline to you the ideal advertising medium. It is the home newspaper. It is a paper which is so filled with good thoughts for every member of the family that it finds a warm welcome and an eager reading wherever it goes. It is free from crime and scandal and unwholesome things. It takes more pride in the quality of its circulation than in mere quantity—but it has the quantity—as well as the quality. It is not boastful, not too much given to finding fault. It wins the confidence of the people by its simplicity, honesty, purity, and progressiveness. It handles the news of the day in a manner which appeals to the better class of people and to the better nature of all people. It emphasizes the the hopeful features of the news rather than the discordant ones. It has a permanent location for its special features. It is an authority on whatever it undertakes to exploit. It has a reputation for correctness. It regulates its advertising pages by reasonable requirements."

Mr. General Advertiser

¶ Unless your advertising proposition for this year includes The Evening Citizen, of Ottawa, you cannot properly "cover" the Dominion Capital.

¶ In the city of Ottawa there are approximately 10,000 homes in which the English language is spoken.

¶ The net paid daily average circulation of The Evening Citizen for 1908 within the city of Ottawa was 8,434 copies per issue.

THE ¶ In other words the sworn circulation statement of The Evening Citizen shows that that paper goes into practically 85% of the English speaking homes of Ottawa.

¶ The total net average sworn circulation of The Evening Citizen for 1908 was 12,412 copies per issue.

¶ These figures are important—especially the 8,434 showing how thoroughly The Evening Citizen covers the city of Ottawa.

¶ In advertising patronage of The Evening Citizen for 1908, the most significant and important feature was the fact that The Evening

Citizen printed 114,170 agate lines of paid "Want Ads" more than did both of its contemporaries put together. The actual figures were:

EVENING

The Evening Citizen, 1,065,926 lines; Free Press and Journal combined, 951,756 lines.

¶ This tremendous preponderance of the "Want" business, together with the sworn circulation figures, shows that The Evening Citizen is nearest the hearts of the people of Ottawa and therefore the best medium in this district for the general advertiser.

Sure Recipe for Successful Advertising

1. Select the field where you want buyers.
2. Decide how much you will spend to get the buyers in that field.
3. Use the paper that most completely covers the field with a sworn circulation.
4. Put all you have decided to spend into that paper and get lowest rates.
5. Use in that paper the very best copy, even if it costs extra money to get it.

Follow this Rule and Success is Assured

No wise Canadian Advertiser can overlook the big French-Canadian field.

There is but one daily paper that covers this French-Canadian field.

LA PRESSE has done this for many years.

The discriminating advertiser who uses LA PRESSE needs no other medium to reach French-Canadians anywhere.

LA PRESSE has a Guaranteed Circulation of 100,000 Daily

Certified by best of local authorities and by the Association of American Advertisers of New York and Chicago. This condition is put into every advertising contract.

The biggest English-Canadian Daily falls 33,000 below LA PRESSE average, and no other Canadian-French Daily averages 37 % of the circulation of LA PRESSE.

THE GREATEST RESULT-PRODUCING MEDIUM

IN

Ottawa, the Capital City of Canada

the most profitable field in the Dominion for the general advertiser, by reason of the wealth of its people, is

The Evening Journal

The circulation of which is worth more per thousand to the advertiser than any other medium in Ottawa, because of the unusual purchasing power of its readers.

Quality and Quantity

These two essential factors in circulation in the success of an advertising campaign, are combined in the Journal, which, as the leading and most influential daily newspaper of Ottawa, thoroughly covers the prosperous, progressive and cultured classes, while its circulation is guaranteed and verified by the Association of American advertisers.

CONVINCING PROOF OF SUPERIORITY

The surest barometer to judge of the prestige of a newspaper as an advertising medium is the opinion which it commands among local advertisers—those thoroughly familiar with the local newspaper situation. The Journal has more local advertisers than any other Ottawa newspaper. Its position in this regard is unique, as the following shows:

Every Ottawa Department Store
Every Ottawa Dry Goods Dealer
Every Ottawa Grocer
Every Ottawa Druggist
Every Ottawa Hatter and Furrier
Every Ottawa Boot and Shoe Dealer
Every Ottawa Hardware Dealer
Every Ottawa Baker and Confectioner who uses any newspaper space whatever

JOURNAL

Advertising concentrates where the best results are obtained, and the foregoing testimony of the leading merchants of Ottawa in proof of the Journal's supremacy is a safe criterion for the general advertiser who values a circulation offering the maximum buying power, and less duplication than any other Ottawa paper.

A Flat Rate

The Journal is one of the few Canadian papers sufficiently sure of the paying quality of its advertising space to adopt a flat rate. This means that whether the space used be large or small the rate is the same, from 2½c. to 2¾c. per Agate line, according to position—equitable to all without contract obligations.

The Ottawa Valley Journal Semi-Weekly

Combines the best features of the purely agricultural, live stock, dairy and poultry journal with a news service compiled with a special view to meeting the requirements of rural readers. This medium, the circulation of which is sworn to, thoroughly covers the including the Eastern Counties of Ontario, the Ottawa Valley and Western Quebec. Successive years of bountiful crops and prevailing high prices have rendered the farmers of this territory prosperous to a degree probably unequalled anywhere in Canada.

THE HERALD IN THE HOMES

DISCUSSING this matter, Mayor Stewart, who had peculiar facilities in January for visiting the homes in this city during the municipal elections, said: "My canvassers and myself found the Herald in almost every home in the city during our rounds. I must confess I was astonished to find that the Herald had such a lead on the old papers. I am satisfied that the Herald has several thousand more circulation in the homes of Hamilton than any of the other city publications. Of that there cannot be the slightest doubt."

Hamilton has a population of over 70,000, and will soon have 100,000. The Herald's Circulation is growing abreast of the times.

A Good Word From New York

J. G. Ham, New York City, the general manager of the wealthy millionaire company that manufacture that popular family medicine Castoria, while discussing advertising matters in his office, 77 Murray Street, New York, last week with S. C. Berger, Philadelphia, manager advertising department Public Ledger, and Herald representative, said: "I consider the Hamilton Herald the best evening newspaper published in the Dominion of Canada, and another thing I wish to say, that since I commenced advertising Castoria in the my sales in Hamilton have doubled."

The Herald is the only Independent Newspaper in Hamilton and covers the city thoroughly. The Herald is read daily in thousands of prosperous homes that never bother with any other Hamilton publication. It pays to be in the Best always.

Maintains Its LeadThe St. Thomas Times*Daily and Weekly

The circulation of both editions is large and of the best character. The Times never had so many satisfied readers. which means that advertisers will find it a responsive medium.

The Daily Times covers St. Thomas and surrounding country like a blanket, while The Weekly Times has a thorough rural and general circulation.

The sworn circulation of The Telegram shows a greater growth than any other newspaper in the field.

Daily average	-	-	-	-	-	27,000
Farmers' Weekly Telegram average	-					30,000

In thousands of these homes no other Winnipeg paper is read. Advertisers recognize that it is not possible to cover the Canadian Northwest unless The Telegram is on their list.

The population of Winnipeg is 128,000. It is the third largest city in Canada, with 20,000 homes. The Telegram is read in over 75% of these homes.

The Farmers' Weekly Telegram carries more class advertising than any other home and farm Weekly in the Canadian Northwest. The strength of the paper is well illustrated in the phenomenal growth in circulation. Four years ago the circulation of the Weekly was under 9,000. The net paid issue guaranteed for 1909 is 30,000. It is the largest farm Weekly in the west.

are based upon frequent repeat orders and the opening of new accounts. The field presenting this opportunity is undoubtedly Central Saskatchewan where circulates.

Along the new lines of the C.P.R., G.T.P. and C.N.R., it was the first to circulate and now presents an opportunity to wholesalers and manufacturers to demand the presence of salesmen by creating a demand for goods advertised. Superseding other dailies by reaching the entire district with a first hand telegraphic and news service twenty-four hours ahead of any other, it stands in the field a power in a prosperous country for the upbuilding of business.

The Weekly Phoenix

LONDON

The Field

WESTERN ONTARIO is the richest section of the Dominion, and contains one-fifth of its total population. Grain and stock farming, dairying, fruit-growing and manufacturing flourish, and yield handsome returns. The buying power of the people is exceptional.

¶ London, with its population of 50,000, is the geographical, railway, business and newspaper centre of Western Ontario, with its million and more inhabitants.

¶ Four great railway systems—the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk, Michigan Central and Père Marquette—radiate from London, and bring the whole Western Peninsula into close touch with the city. 54 passenger trains arrive and depart daily—more than to any other city in Canada.

¶ London is naturally the distributing and industrial centre for this rich territory.

¶ No advertiser who aims at general distribution of his product can afford to neglect such a field.

The Lachute News and Argenteuil County Advocate.
The Bedford News and Missisquoi County Advocate.
The Richmond News and District of St. Francis Advocate.
The Knowlton News and Brome County Advocate.
The Huntingdon News and Enterprise and District of Beauharnois Advocate.

A Brief Story of a Successful Newspaper

THE NEWS was established in 1848, and, from a small rural sheet, like most newspapers were at that time, it has grown, like an acorn to an oak, slowly but steadily, till it is to-day recognized throughout the Dominion as the best suburban weekly newspaper published within its borders. ¶ Seven editions of THE NEWS are published. These seven editions are not simply reprints of The News and Eastern Townships Advocate with a different heading and circulated only in villages where their respective names designate, but they are separate and distinct local organs, devoted to and published in the interests of the several counties or districts in which they are circulated, and are recognized by the intelligent and progressive portion of the masses as papers to be justly proud of.

Results that are Results

Advertisers who use the columns of these 7 papers get the same and possibly better results than if placing contracts with an equal number of other different county newspapers. Take, for example, the radius of territory these 7 papers cover, something over 75 miles. ¶ Then take the class of people that these newspapers circulate amongst—the well-to-do and most cultured inhabitants of the country—the kind that advertisers want to reach and the kind it pays to reach. ¶ Seven papers circulated amongst upwards of 250,000 people, for a small outlay, is what the shrewd advertiser is looking for, and this is just what he gets if he uses THE NEWS publications.

A Record Extraordinary

¶ When a newspaper which started publication April 29th, 1907, is admitted by everybody to have firmly established itself and to be a great popular success within less than twenty months, there must be a good reason for it. ¶ The reason is to be found in the fact that has struck the popular chord. That means a great deal. It means that it is a live, well-edited, up-to-date Newspaper and withal clean and self-respecting. ¶ Practically every advertiser in Calgary uses it and gets results.

¶ A new era in Canadian literature and art has been given Canada by "Canada-West," the only first-rank publication between the Great Lakes and the Pacific Coast.

¶ During 1908 our editorial text and special articles were more widely copied and commented upon than those of any other Dominion publication.

¶ "Canada Fakers" by Arthur Stringer, created a furore; Emerson Hough's "Sowing" moulded public opinion anew on colonization; Earl Grey congratulated us on "The Plains of Abraham"; S. E. Kiser's poetry won President Roosevelt's commendation; "Letters of a Remittance Man" sold out its first Canadian edition in six weeks; and so the story runs from victory unto victory.

¶ We are on the art market all the time for the best subjects in color or black-and-white and have set new standards for Canadian cover designs, frontispieces and illustrative work.

¶ Write us about "Canada-West." Sworn circulation statements, advertising rate cards, and our house organ, "Hot Shots from Gunn," sent to anyone anywhere on request.

The Man Who Is Building Up Alberta is the man who has made the area under crop in the province to-day six times what it was in 1901. It is the farmer who is reaping the principal benefit of the development that has been going on and no live advertiser will fail to take advantage of an opportunity to get in touch with him.

The Alberta Homestead reaches the substantial farmers in all parts of Alberta. It is their spokesman and when you see a man from the country take his mail out of the post office it is always the Homestead he looks at first.

An advertisement in its columns is certain to receive careful attention.

Economic Advertising

A Monthly Magazine Published in the Interests of Canadian Advertisers

THIS is the only publication in Canada devoted to advertising. It was established in September, 1908, by Stewart & Tobin, Toronto. The serious, illuminating and common-sense manner in which it approached its subject won immediate approval from advertisers and publishers alike. In a short space of time it established itself as a real power in its field.

The mission of Economic Advertising is to make advertising appeal to manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers—in fact, to business men in general—as a very definite proposition—a sound investment whose work may be watched and checked almost as accurately as that of a selling force.

"I must extend to you praise for the commendable standard you have laid down."—A. A. BRIGGS, Advertising Manager, The McClary Mfg. Co., London.

"The writer has read with considerable interest your valuable magazine, from cover to cover, and wishes to congratulate the editors upon their pronounced success. Economic Advertising is well worthy the support of every business man in the Dominion of Canada."—C. MCDIARMID, Advertising Mgr., Ryrie Bros., Toronto.

"For your magazine I will say that I followed it from first page to last, and it held my interest all through."—GEO. H. TUDHOPE, The T. Eaton Co., Toronto.

"A valuable and interesting magazine."—A. A. BITTUES, Managing Director, Gillette Safety Razor Co., Montreal.

"Looks good. Let us have a good practical CANADIAN advertising journal."—H. S. PORTER, Advertising Manager, Henry Birks & Sons, Montreal.

"Your bright little magazine has been received and read from cover to cover. Accept my heartiest congratulations."—K. S. FENWICK, The Paquet Co., Quebec.

"We consider Economic Advertising worth ten times the money you charge for it."—H. VINEBERG, H. Vineberg & Co., Montreal.

BUSY MAN'S MAGAZINE

is a monthly periodical for busy men and women. Its contents are interesting from cover to cover. Its large circulation has been built up solely on its own merits. No premiums or dubious schemes have ever been used to increase its list of readers.

BUSY MAN'S MAGAZINE offers the national advertiser a valuable publicity, because,—

It enjoys a national Canadian circulation, covering the Dominion thoroughly from Coast to Coast.

The records of our circulation department for 1908 show eighty-three per cent of our readers renewed their subscriptions. A strong proof of the value of Busy Man's publicity section.

Its contents are interesting from cover to cover, being made up of the most timely articles, fascinating short stories selected from the world's best current magazines and periodicals, as well as original articles and short stories by the foremost Canadian writers.

It is supported by the strongest circulation organization in Canada—that of the MacLean Publishing Company. Two hundred men working circulation all the year around. See opposite page.

THE TORONTO

Its Constituency

A newspaper shows the character of its readers. The News caters to people having regard for news rather than sensation, people who know that what they read in The News may be depended upon as being accurate, up to the times and entertaining.

As a consequence The News goes daily, in constantly increasing numbers, into 2,400, or 75%, of the Post Offices throughout Ontario—undoubtedly the best buying constituency in which to use advertising space.

DAILY NEWS

Its Advertising

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

From the fact that The News carries usually more general display advertising than any other paper published in Toronto, or the Province of Ontario, the natural deduction follows that it pays best to

ADVERTISE IN THE NEWS

Advertisers use The News for these very sufficient reasons:—

It sells their goods.

Its circulation is large and healthy.

Its rates are extremely moderate, having regard to size and class of circulation.

Concentrate Your Fire

WHEN one paper covers its field is it worth while duplicating its service? The Evening Telegram gives a circulation of close on 50,000 within the actual city limits of Toronto at a minimum rate of six cents a line. That leaves a mighty small remnant of publicity in that city of shops and shoppers, which five other papers can possibly offer you. Is that remnant worth the 25 or 30 cents a line it will cost you to reach it?

The EVENING TELEGRAM TORONTO

IF you want Toronto's trade, it is better to concentrate your fire. This spring one merchant dropped all the other Toronto papers and conducted his campaign exclusively through The Telegram. As a result his business doubled, while the advertising expenditure was reduced two-thirds. By avoiding useless duplication he got full return for every cent he spent for publicity.

French Translations

By an Experienced Advertising Man

It is not very difficult to get your advertisements translated literally, into grammatically correct French.

But the skilful phrasing which has made your copy pleasing and effective in English, is generally lost by the mere translator.

To get really good results from your French advertising, the translation should be done by a man who can himself write first-class French advertisements.

I have had many years experience in the different phases of advertising, including the writing of both French and English copy. I can turn your English advertisements, booklets or circulars, not into mere wooden translations, but into real, forceful, business-getting French.
